AGED MEN ROBBED OF CASH

Six Men and a Woman Under Arrest

CHARGED WITH CRIME

Alleged to Have Stolen $4,000 from Henry and Martin Eby, of Woodward, Centre County.

ACCUSED PEOPLE NOW IN JAIL.

Quite a sensational arrest was made at Woodward Friday when Detectives A. L. Millard and Edward D. Baker, of Philadelphia, took into custody Harry Kessinger, George Fultz, Edson Fultz and the latter's wife, who was the widow of "Bill Etlinger." These four are charged with stealing a large sum of money, approximately $4,000, from Henry and Michael Eby, two wealthy bachelor farmers of Haines township.

The detectives have been working on the case for the past four weeks with the above denouement. The four suspects were lodged in jail here last night.

Michael and Henry Eby live in Haines township one mile northwest of Woodward, are good, honest farmers and own six or more of the best farms in that section of the county, but they have a decided penchant for hoarding money—coin, checks, currency notes in all sorts of out of the way places. The Eby brothers lived by themselves and while they are not recluses they are suspicious of glib-tongued strangers. It is said that banks and the Ebys are almost strangers although, perhaps, they do not mistrust these institutions, but their hoarding is inbred -beginning when the senior John Eby migrated from Lebanon county to Penns valley.

The robberies complained of were perpetrated at different times. Last November while the brothers were eating supper in a summer kitchen $2,000 was stolen from an old bureau drawer up stairs and the robbers in their haste dropped $1,000 on the stairs. About two months ago while Henry Eby was at his barn hitching up a masked man entered and forced him to yield up $2,000 which he had hidden about the barn. The burglar evidently knew the Ebys had money hidden there. On several different occasions hogs and cattle were also stolen from them.

Finally the robberies became so numerous that detectives were put on the case. Edward D. Baker, a Philadelphia detective, went to Nittany and boarded there pretending to be a discharged soldier waiting for an increase of pension. He posed as a rough character mingling among the lumbermen.

He finally got in with the Fultzs and Kessinger, who were lumbermen. It is alleged by the detectives that he learned they were paying cash for their goods bought at the grocery store, whereas, according to his story, they had at times dealt on credit before.

COLLECTING EVIDENCE.

One of them is said to have paid off a promissory note recently. Baker also claims he found the woman gave a railroad conductor a $10 gold piece for her fare in going to Woodward.

When Baker had collected this information he sent for A. L. Millard, the head of the detective-agency. The latter after being in town a day or two, accused Baker, his partner, of the theft of a watch and chain, merely as a ruse. Baker denied it and claimed he could prove an alibi by the Fultz's and Kessinger. He accordingly took Millard to Fultz's house, where, according to the detective, the man and his wife sustained Baker's statement.

But Millard insisted on further evidence, which was furnished by summoning Keissinger and the younger Fultz man to the house. When all four were assembled Baker and Millard turned on them and placed them all under arrest.

They protested their innocence, but according to the detective agency, one of their number broke down and told the whole story.

Before their removed to jail the prisoners were subjected to the sweat-box process, and one of their number is said by Millard to have broken down confessing all. He is alleged to have conducted Millard four miles from town early Friday morning, and at 5 30 o'clock they reached the heart of a woods where, according to the detective, was recovered $1025 in paper money from a jar buried under a tree. It had to be dug up with a pick and shovel. With the recovered money Millard returned to town and then took his prisoners to Woodward.

They were held in $1.000 bail. Judge John G. Love was retained by the prisoners as their lawyer.

THREE MORE ARRESTS.

On Tuesday evening Detectives Millard and Baker, of Philadelphia, arrived in Bellefonte with Chas. Haines, Wilson Haines and Thomas D. Bowersox, of Woodward, all charged with complicity in the robbery of $4.000 from the Eby brothers, Michael and Henry of Haines township. These three men were implecated by the confessions of the four arrested last week. After their arrest Tuesday the three also confessed. Although no money was recovered the detectives secured a certificate of deposit on th Millheim Bank for $100. Thus far onl" $1276 out of the $4000 stolen has been recovered,

He was taken to the Bellefonte Hospital where he is receiving careful attention and is reported as getting along nicely.

—A sudden and distressing death in Bellefonte, Thursday noon, was that of Mrs. Al. Roberts, of Penn street, who expired quite suddenly, even though she had been sick for a long time. GREAT MINE DISASTER!

One Hundred and Five Men Entombed and all are Believed to be Dead.

TIMBERS GAVE WAY

FATAL EXPLOSION OF A BOILER

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 21.—Meagre reports reached this city Monday evening of a terriable disaster in the Virginia mines, which are located about 18 miles from Birmingham. One hundred and five men are entombed in the mine, and it is believed that all are dead. Relief trains carrying physicians and laborers have been sent to the scene of the disaster from both Birmingham and Bessemer.

Reports to the Age Herald at 10 o'clock Monday night state that every effort is making to reach the men, but that they could not possibly succeed before this morning.

The mines belong to the Alabama Steel and Wire company, and are lea[illegible] Reid & Co. Both white and colored miners are employed, and only recently union miners went to work. The mines are considered the safest of their kind. The slopes are well located and there never has been any trouble from gas heretofore.

It is stated that the accident was caused by a cave-in due to the giving way of the timbers.

FOUR DEAD IN EXPLOSION.

St. Clair, Feb. 21.—Four men are dead and 17 injured, six of them seriously, as the result of the explosion Monday of a stationary boiler at No. 1 mine of the Providence Coal company, near here. The dead. William Adams, President of the local branch of the United Mine Workers; Eli Mint, engineer, aged 26; Michael Melli, and an unknown Hungarian.

The mine shaft, which has just recently been completed, has not been operated daily on account of the installation of new mine machinery, but the employes reported every day to learn if their services were needed.

Monday was wet and cold and the men congregated in the boiler house, a temporary structure, equipped with an old boiler, which has been used in sinking the shaft and was still in use pending the installation of the new boiler. Without a moment's warning the boiler exploded with a terrific report, hurling the men in all directions and blowing the building into fragments.

Death of Mrs. J. C. Kirk.

Mrs. J. C. Kirk, of Burnside, Clearfield county, died Tuesday evening at Washington, D. C., to which place she was taken the last of October with the hope that the change of climate would prove beneficial. The cause of her death was pulmonary trouble with which she has long been ailing. The members of her family were present at her bedside when the final summons came. She was a devout christian, a member of the Brethren church and her death was a most triumphant one. She was a lady whose many excellent qualities endeared her to all who knew her, and the friends who mourn her death are many. She was aged about 35 years, and she was born at Jacksonville, this county. Besides her husband she leaves three little girls, as well as her mother, who has been giving her the most tender care for several months. The body was taken to Burnside, where interment was made Saturday.

Bigler Johnson Must Hang.

Bigler Johnson, the confessed murderer of his wife and niece, was yesterday at Towanda sentenced to be hanged. In the proceedings that have progressed for the purpose of determining the degree of crime, Judge Fanning directed that Johnson be adjudged guilty of murder in the first degree. This was a starting turn for the prisoner, as it was evident by his demeanor that he expected clemency. Johnson was then called before the court and sentenced to be hanged by the neck until dead.

CLEVER ROGUE UNDER ARREST.

Harry Silverberg Answers to a Score of Names—Arrested in New York.

New York, February 20.—Harry Silverberg, alias a score of other names, was arrested Saturday by Central office men. It was announced the arrest was in connection with a swindling operation, which was to have reached its climax on Monday next, when the prisoner was to receive $50,000 from one of his alleged dupes. On February 6, the police were notified by Chief of Police Kiely, of St. Louis, that Silverberg had come to this city. Since then the police have been searching for him. Silverberg is held on a technical charge.

Two telegrams found upon Silverberg and believed to have some connection with his latest operations, were made public by Inspector O'Brien. One of them was sent on February 6, from York, Pa., to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., being addressed to "J. C. Young, Hotel Sterling, Wilkes Barre, Pa." It read:

"'Phone me to-morrow about 9. Closed with party

(Signed.)

"GEORGE W. PORTER."

The other telegram was addressed to "J. C. Young, Allen House, Lancaster, Pa.," and reads:

"Lancaster letter received. Important reply Friday to Wilkes-Barre; love.

(Signed.)

"MAY."

Silverberg is said to be one of the most remarkable criminals known in police annals in many years. At one time he impersonated a nephew of J. Coleman Drayton, a prominent lawyer of this city, in which capacity he hired a private car and with several accomplices, went to Lancaster, Pa., and other Pennsylvania towns, osteneably as a promoter for the "Arizona Consolidated Mining Company," which was later found to have no existence.

He was next heard of in Germany, where he became acquainted with members of the nobility, who feted him handsomely and whose hospitality he returned by irregular operations it is said. He was in jail in Munich for awhile, but was pardoned. He appeared next in Mexico, and was jailed there but regained his liberty.

Minneapolis, Minn., February 20.—Silverberg, under the alias of J. J. Carlisle, last year married Miss Bonnie Hinkle, step-daughter of a millionaire lumberman of Minneapolis and was arrested in Washington while on his wedding tour, charged with swindling a Minneapolis stenographer out of several hundred dollars. He was in jail here for several months and then on the plea that he was dying of consumption, secured his release on $1,000 bail, which he forfeited. The case against him here is said to have been compromised. Miss Hinkle secured a divorce and restoration of her maiden name. Silverberg's mother is said to be wealthy.

Funeral of J Wesley Gephart

Shoemaker, Frank Warfield, William Kelley, George Grimm, Isaac Mitchell, Charles McCurdy and James H. Potter.

Out of respect for the deceased all business places were closed from 1 until 3 o'clock. The public and private schools, also the Bellefonte Academy, of which he was director and trustee, held but one session Friday, closing at 12 o'clock, to give all who desired an opportunity to attend the funeral of the man who sacrificed his life in the interests of the people of Bellefonte.

Death of Christian Swartz.

CAPITOL'S POOR SETTING

Bill to Enlarge State Capitol Park Now In the Legislature at Harrisburg.

The House of Representatives will within a few days act on the Fox bill for the extension of the Capitol Park east from its present location in Harrisburg in order to provide a setting for the new building which will be adequate and afford a chance for the magnificent structure to be seen. The bill has been generally discussed by members of both branches of the legislature, all of whom are in favor of acquiring the additional land.

The Fox bill provides for a commission to purchase the land, the commission to be appointed by the governor and to be of men who have no interest whatever in the land proposed to be taken for the purposes of the state. Authority is given to secure for the use of the commonwealth all of the land described within a certain area of Harrisburg, and if the properties can not be purchased the commissioners have the power to exercise the state's right of eminent domain and take the land under proceedings in court. Stories that the governor is opposed to the bill in its present form are without foundation, as baseless as can be imagined. He is in hearty accord with the plan and will aprove the bill as soon as it is passed.

The project of adding to the Capitol Park has been earnestly advocated by everyone familiar with the location of the state house in Harrisburg. The capitol building, which is conceded to be one of the handsomest in the United States, superbly proportioned and ornamented in most artistic style, stands on a slight eminence in the city of Harrisburg. At no place is the hill more than 15 feet above the level of Harrisburg's asphalted streets which surround the park on all four sides, so that the building, which is almost as large around as St. Peter's at Rome, rises from the midst of Harrisburg streets. It is literally lost in the midst of the city, when by addition of a few acres its location could be made admirable.

The land which it is proposed to acquire for the use of the state and to add to the park comprises about 20 city blocks. They all lie to the east of the capitol. North, south and west of the park lie the best sections of Harrisburg, that fronting on the river comprising the residential section of the city, the largest churches and many beautiful residences and institutions. On this side the capitol has a little better setting than on the east. The building is placed 100 feet or more from the street and approached by a flight of brownstone steps surmounted by a statue of General John F. Hartranft. At a distance of a few blocks a view giving a fair idea of the beauties of the structure can be obtained, but it is not satisfactory and does not give one what can be obtained in so many other state capitals, an unobstructed sight of the official home of a state. The great building towers above the city to the height of 200 or more feet, overpowering in its immensity and so widespreading that the eye, limited by buildings, can not see more than half of it.

On the east side the conditions are worse. The huge building rises sheer from the street, being built almost on what would be the house line. Only one street opens toward it, and it gives a view more circumscribed than that obtained on the other side. This section can be secured for state park purposes at comparatively little cost. It contains the poorest section of Harrisburg, some thoroughfares which are little more than alleys containing old and rickety buildings and stables. There are a few begrimed factory buildings and a market in this part of the city, and on the whole it is as unfinviting a locality as one could imagine. The residents offer no objection, as the buildings are all old, and in the course of time will have to be removed, anyway. If they could be taken down and the land thrown into a park a splendid prospect would be opened and the beautiful building be seen in its grandeur and form a picture in which every Pennsylvanian could take the greatest pride. The chance is there for making the state house famous; all that is neded is to grasp the opportunity before it becomes too costly.

Chicken Pudding.

An improvement on old fashioned chicken pie, which was always a rather insipid dish, is chicken pudding. Cut up two chickens, if a good sized pudding is wanted, and fry them in a very hot saucepan with chopped salt pork and a few slices of onion. The frying is merely to seal the outside, and five minutes is ample time to allow for this. Fill the saucepan half full of boiling water, season with salt and pepper and stew the chicken until it is quite tender. Remove from the liquor and place in a baking dish. Make a batter with flour, milk, a tablespoonful of butter and three eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately. Pour this over the chicken and bake. Boil down the liquor in which the chicken was stewed, thicken with a roux of flour and butter and serve in a sauce boat with the pudding.

Portrait Buttons.

Portrait buttons for campaign purposes are no new thing. Exactly the same method of conveying the expression of political admiration was in force in the days of Queen Anne. At the time of the famous sermon by Dr. Sacheverell, when party passion reached a high pitch, the custom was originated of using coat buttons adorned with caricatures, portraits of the much discussed doctor and similar decorations. Nor was the fancy confined to buttons. Gentlemen sealed their letters with similar designs, and a little later they were to be found on the backs of playing cards and even on women's fans. Dr. Sacheverell's head, again, was made use of to ornament tobacco stoppers, crockery and similar articles.

Skillful Porto Ricans.

The natives of Porto Rico fashion a variety of useful and ornamental articles by hand from the palm leaves, gourds, cocoanuts and other products of the island. They are skillful in weaving hammocks, hats similar to panama hats, and a great variety of baskets. Canes, paper knives and other articles are carved out of the native woods, some of which show curious and strikingly ornamental markings. The senoras and senoritas of Porto Rico are especially skillful with the needle and produce a considerable quantity of fine drawn work and laces.

Already Supplied.

A Swedish girl just arrived from the old country attended evening service at a Duluth church. The minister, seeing she was a stranger, shook hands with her at the close of the meeting and said he would find pleasure in calling upon her soon, whereupon the girl, blushing, hung her head and bashfully murmured, "T'ank you, but Ay have a fella."

Absentminded.

The Groom—I can't see that check your father placed among the wedding presents. The Bride—Papa is so absentminded! He lit his cigar with it.

The Selfish Man.

A bachelor one day set the table in his lonely abode with plates for himself and an imaginary wife and five children. He then sat down to dine, and as he helped himself to food he put the same quantity on each of the other plates and surveyed the prospect, at the same time computing the cost. He is still a bachelor.

The Game of Life.

Life is a queer game of blind man's buff, played in a mist on a mountain top, and the players keep dropping over the precipices. But nobody heeds because there are always plenty more, and the game goes on forever.—H. Rider Haggard.

A Shampoo For Dry Scalp.

A splendid tonic shampoo for a dry scalp can be made as follows: Take two ounces of white castile soap, one-half an ounce of potassium carbonate, eight ounces of alcohol, two ounces of tincture of quillaija, twenty drops of oil of lavender and eight ounces of water. Dissolve in the water the potassium carbonate and soap, then add the other ingredients. Rub well into the roots of the hair and then rinse well in several waters. Dry if possible in the sun, never in front of a fire, as this will make the hair brittle.

A Conversion.

A country circus advertised that "at 12 o'clock the cannibals will be fed." A large crowd assembled, but to everybody's disappointment the savages ate potatoes. In reply to some indignant questions the manager said: "But, gentlemen, don't you see that their diet is evidence of my skill? I have converted them into vegetarians."—Fliegende Blatter.

The Virtues of Vin-Te-Na...

Your knowledge of the workings of the "human machine" no doubt makes you aware of the fact that the nervous system is fed and sustained by and through the blood.

When the blood is charged with the elements which nature designed, the entire nervous system and all the organs are kept in a healthful state.

Without the force which the nerves absorb from the blood, both brain and body are poor machines. Vin-te-na contains just those elements which are wanting in impoverished, poor blood. It was found on both common sense and scientific knowledge. It has conscience and integrity back of it. Vin-te-na is the one medicine that does precisely what it was designed to do, i. e. gives life and nerve-food to the blood. It actually cures every one of those disorders which come from impoverished blood.

GRANTED NEW LEASE OF LIFE!

Death Warrants of Mrs. Kate Edwards and Samuel Greason.

HAVE BEEN WITHDRAWN

The Board of Pardons Granted a Hearing and the Cases are Continued for One Month

REPRIEVE ON EVE OF EXECUTION.

Harrisburg, Feb. 16.—On recommendation of the Board of Pardons Wednesday Governor Pennypacker withdrew the death warrants in the case of Mrs. Kate Edwards, the white woman, and Samuel Greason, the negro, who were under sentence to hang together in the Berks county jail in Reading today for the murder of Mrs. Edwards' husband in 1901. The case of Greason will be taken again to the Supreme Court, and if that tribunal refuses to reopen the case the attorneys for Mrs. Edwards and Greason will have to appear before the Board of Pardons next month.

The Supreme Court room was crowded with spectators when the Board of Pardons convened. In the crowd were many members of the Legislature, and also the Ohio delegation of women which presented a petition to the Governor in behalf of the condemned woman.

THEIR CASES TAKEN UP.

When the Pardon Board went into session some minor cases were disposed of, after which the Edwards case was taken up. Ellwood H. Deysher, counsel for Mrs. Edwards, made a motion that the case of Mrs. Edwards be continued He made this motion, he said, because Mrs. Edwards had confessed that she had committed the crime and that Greason had no hand in it, and because counsel for Greason wanted to take depositions and also examine Mrs Edwards with regard to the authenticity of the confession.

Counsel for Greason, he said, would not be able to do this if the case of Mrs. Edwards was not continued, because they were both under sentence to hang Thursday morning. John H. Rothermel and William H, Sadler, attorneys for Greason, supported Mr. Deysher, and also pleaded for a rehearing in the case of their client. Mr. Sadler informed the Board that he had four witnesses in behalf of Greason who had never been examined.

The Board retired, and after deliberating twenty minutes returned to the bench and announced that the Board had decided to take up both cases and immediately continue them.

FROM GOVERNOR PENNYPACKER.

Governor Pennypacker was promptly advised by a messenger from the Board of Pardons of its action in continuing the case of Mrs. Edwards and Samuel Greason.

REPLY OF BOARD OF PARDONS.

The Board replied to the Governor in the following letter, which is signified by all the members:

"We acknowledge the receipt of your letter of today in the cases of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania versus Kate Edwards and the Commonwealth against Samuel Greason and send the following letter: Before the receipt of your letter the Board had taken action and publicly anncuoced that in view of the dissent on the part of the Supreme Court from the opinion of the court in refusing a new trial in the Greason case in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in Berks county, and in view of the statement of counsel for Greason that they have four witnesses never before examined whose testimony they desire to take and present to the Supreme Court for its consideration of the application for rehearing in the Edwards case and for rehearing in the Greason case, is granted.

'We therefore respectfully recommend that the question at issue in behalf of the cases staying the execution for a period not exceeding ten days after the third Monday in March."

The Passing of the Chinese.

The prediction is that in fifty years—perhaps less than fifty, if the present laws remain in effect and are rigidly executed—the Chinese population of the United States will become practically extinct. From 1890 to 1900, they fell away from 126,778 to 119,050, a decrease of nearly eight thousand, or more than six percent. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, more than four thousand voluntarily left the port of San Francisco for the land of their birth, the total deported and returning voluntarily being 5020 A very large majority of these Chinamen were advanced in years, and went home to die.

A generation ago, there were in San Francisco from thirty to forty thousand Chinamen. The Chinese consul-general there told me that, counting men, women, and children, there are not now 10,000. The same proportionate decrease is seen in other places. It should be borne in mind that the total number of Chinese now in the United States includes 26,767 in Hawai and 3116 in Alaska, so that, at the beginning of this decennial period, there were living in the United States proper only 89,000. A generation ago, there were at least 150,000.

According to the most liberal estimate, there are not more than one hundred and fifty legal Chinese woman is estimated at between one thousand and two thousand Of such female children as are born to the lowest class, a large proportion are sold for immoral purposes by their parents, thus still further reducing the possibilities of an increased population.

The main adult population is male; is unmarried, or, at least, wifeless in America; and is rapidly approaching old age. Thus by 1930 or 1940, the main Chinese life in America will have become extinct.

Veterans Passing Away.

Soldiers of "the disappearing army" as the veterans of the civil war have been termed are dying at the rate of 100 every day from sunrise to sunrise.

This pathetic showing is made by the quarterly statement of the pension bureau, given out by Commissioner Ware. The mortality among soldier pensioners of all wars and classes last year was 31,273 deaths, of which 30,071 were soldiers of the civil war. Commissioner Ware estimates that there are 150,000 to 181,000 soldiers of the civil war who are not on the pension rolls.

These he has designated as "the unknown army."

It is said that fully 88,000 civil war veterans, pensioners and non-pensioned deid last year

Thirty Seventh Annual Convention Opened in Johnstown.

DELEGATES PRESENT

LARGELY ATTENDED BANQUET GIVEN.

Johnstown, Pa., February 17.—The thirty-seventh annual state convention of the Y. M. C. A. opened here Thursday afternoon with nearly 600 delegates in attendance in addition to which fully 100 more are expected to arrive today. The convention organized with the election of the following officers:

President, Robert A Orr, of Pittsburg; first vice president, James Schard, of Lancaster. second vice president, Hon. J. C, Stineman, South Fork; recording secretary, J. B. Edwards, Reading; assistant secretary, Harry Marsh, of Hartford college; second assistant secretary, B. A. Hoover, of Derry; personal secretary. Edgar Aaron, of Johnstown.

The feature of the opening day of the convention was the banquet to the delegates which was held Thursday evening with 700 men in attendance. Robert A. Orr presided at the banquet, which was followed with a conversational meeting in which the delegates participated. Prior to the conversational meeting, the report of the state executive committee was read by C. L Huston, of Coatsville.

The report showed that there has been an increase of thirteen associations during the year. bringing the total number in Pennsylvania to 232, divided into seventy nine city, twenty-eight railroad, sixty-two volunteer and sixty three student. The members of 212 of these associations is 47.126, a gain of nearly 5,000 over the preceding year. Pennsylvania leads all the states in the number of association. New buildings were dedicated at Sewickley, Washington, Tyrone and Upper Lehigh, the latter being erected by the Upper Lehigh Coal company for the use of the association at that place The Pennsylvania Railroad company remodeled an entire building for the new railroad station at Forty-third street, Pittsburg, at a cost of $10,000. At a number of points in the bituminous coal region the corporations have contributed largely to the equipment of the work in small towns. Buildings are being erected or are under consideration at Bellefonte, Clearfield, Pittston, Chester, Connellsville, Lebanon, Milton, New Kensington, Ridgway, McKees Rocks, Bradford, New Brighton, Steelton, Sunbury, Chambersburg, South Fork, Ardmore, Washington and Jefferson college and Lehigh university. Five new railroad associations are in process of organization and one company had contributed $15,000 for a proposed new building. There are twenty-three associations in the anthracite coal region and in the bituminous district; seventy-six associations have departments for boys.

The report of the treasurer of the association, J. B, Bailey, was also read and showed a balance on hand at the end of the year of over $700.

The first address of the convention was delivered at the afternoon session by the Rev. Dr. Arthur T. Pierson, of Brooklyn, editor of the Missionary Review of the World, who had as his subject "The Present Assault on the Supernatural." Dr. Pierson's address consisted of a vigorous defense of the the supernatural and a severe condemnation of atheism and heresy, which he claims is rampant among all religious bodies and papers.

ALL ABOUT FEBRUARY.

How it Gained its Name and it Lost its Day.

The people who lived in Rome hundreds of years ago, used to have a festival, to which many people went. Everybody took with him goats and a dog. These animals were killed and offered to a god. After that two young men were brought to the altar. Their foreheads were touched with a bloody sword; then washed off with wool dipped in milk.

The people then had a great feast. When that was done, each cut a whip from the skin of the animal he had brought. Then those who took part in the festival ran about the city whipping everyone who came near.

Februatio was the name of this rude festival, and the whips were called Februa; so when the old Romans wanted a name for this month they thought of their festival held at this time of the year, and called it February.

This is the shortest month of the year. It has only twenty-eight days. Do you know the reason? It is this: The Emperor Agustus, for whom the month of August was named, wanted his month to have as many days as any other month of the year. You know six other months have thirty-one days. So he just took a day from poor February, which already had one day less than any other and added it to August.

You know all the months are of the same length every year except February which has twenty-eight days every three years and twenty-nine in the fourth or leap year. You may not all know the reason.

When the Romans were making the months and years they found that a year had 365 days and nearly six hours in it. Now, every one of you know that four sixes make twenty-four; and that 24 hours make a whole day. So at the end of every four years there was a whole day to spare. What did they do with it? Just what you would have done, they gave it to February, the shortest month.

The bill authorizing the construction of armories for the State militia now pending at Harrisburg, so far as can be judged from the outside, is a careful and proper measure. The fear with regard to such general bills is that they may be a cover for extravagance or that they may be used to furnish favorite organizations with sumptuous quarters while less influential ones get slight attention. But this seems to be reasonably guarded against by the limitation of $20,000 as the maximum expenditure on account of each company.

One thing is certain. If the militia of the State is worth keeping up it is worth while to provide it with adequate and permanent quarters. There is no question of the necessity of a properly organized militia to meet emergencies, both State and national. There is scarcely less doubt that the militia of Pennsylvania, while it has had its lapses, is now a well-organized body and a credit to the State. The one feature of adequate, comfortable and permanent quarters is its most conspicuous lack.

So far as we can see it is the business of the State to make good that lack. Cities and boroughs may for their own embellishment aid to make their armories architectural attractions. But it is not easily seen how the State can fairly do less than is proposed in this bill.

Fire Demonstration Thursday Night.

The demonstration given Thursday evening at 7.30 by the Chicago Fire Appliance Co. proved conclusively that the Eclipse dry chemical extinguisher has great merit. A dry pine box 10x4x2 was plastered with coal tar, and about 4 qts of coal oil was thrown on, when the box was a seething flame, it was extinguished very quickly, by throwing the powder at the bottom of the flame thereby making a gas which extinguished all the flames. This appliance is cheap, reliable, durable and efficient and should be used generally in this town, as it is being successfully used in hundreds of other towns and cities and comes highly recommended.

THEY NEVER FAIL.

That is What They say About Them in Bellefonte, and it is Therefore, Reliable.

Another proof, some more evidence, Bellefonte testimony to swell the long list of advocates who endorse the old Quaker remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this convicting endorsement of the claims made for that remarkable preparation:

Mrs. Emma J. Davis, of 246 E. Logan St., says: "I have a great deal of confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills. and have already recommended them in a published testimonial in 1897. I told how I had been relieved of kidney complaint and backache which had kept me suffering for years. Doan's Kidney Pills did this for me when other remedies had failed. Whenever I feel any symptom of my old trouble I send to F. Potts Green's drug store for a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills and it never requires more than a few doses to get me right.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. cents. Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no others.

EDITORIAL.

ASSASSINATION AGAIN.

The assassination of Grand Duke Sergius by a bomb explosion at Moscow shows that the Russian agitation has passed into the hands of the Terrorists. That there is a cool and deliberate policy in the conduct of that party is indicated by the fact that they ceased their propaganda by assassination while there was any hope of gaining constitutional rights by ordinary agitation. But that hope being conclusively denied the resort to dynamite brings down the head of the reactionary court party.

All civilization will recoil from the resort to assassination to gain political ends. But civilization has been forced to read from the history of Russia during the past quarter of a century that the recurrence to the methods of military anarchy is the recoil from the oppressions and corruptions of despotic bureaucracy. Sergius, the victim of this assassination, was the especial exponent of all that is vicious in the Russian system. He was arbitrary and cruel in dealing with the people. There are plenty of indications that this was not dictated by any high ideal of divine right, but simply to preserve the right of continued plunder from the public funds. He had opposed the grant of any concessions to reform the Russian Government. He had triumphed in his effort, and the Terrorist wing revenged the whole of progressive Russia on him. No justification in ethics is offered for such a honor. But the subject will be blindly viewed if it is not seen that this and similar horrors are the inevitable results of tyranny, oppression and corrupt government.

Car's Wild Dash.

Jersey Shore, Feb. 21.—Friday morning at the Jersey Shore-Antes Fort trolley car was making its first trip over from the station at the bridge descent on a curve the sand did not work and the car dashed down into the temporary car barn at the foot of the hill and crashed through the door.

The rails inside the barn were dry and the car was stopped; otherwise it would have plunged on through. The car was not damaged and none of the passengers was hurt.

Her husband's name was Samuel DePue.

THE TIRED COWBIRD.

The cowbird was born so tired that if he could compel any other bird to gather his food for him he would do so, but he cannot, so he scratches about all day among the herds of cattle and sheep and goes to roost at night in great bands of hundreds of his relatives, always selecting a bushy tree, such as a cypress, for a night's perch. All up and down the Mississippi river valley is the common summer home of these birds, for only in the depth of winter do they retreat to the warmer mesas of Mexico, whither most of the other birds have preceeded them. In the spring following such a winter they are the first to return, filling all the new year air with their chatter and lining the barnyard trees.

You must not think that the glossy black and brown birds so plentiful around southern California barnyards during the winter months are cowbirds, for they are not. They are called "grackles" and seem to be more like crows than blackbirds. You can find their nests, big, bulky affairs, in the orange and cypress trees of almost any of your ranch homes. There are many, many members to the blackbird family, the sweet voiced meadow larks and the gorgeous golden orioles as well as the more sober colored blackbirds and grackles, and of all these but one forces the hatching of her eggs and the feeding of her young on to another bird mother.

In England the cuckoo has this same habit, but the American cuckoo builds her nest and sits on her eggs as nicely as any robin or dove could do. Sometimes our road runner so far forgets herself as to lay her eggs in the nest of a quail or a meadow lark, but not often, but when she does the bird upon whom Mrs. Road Runner tries to impose generally breaks the strange egg or else goes away and leaves the nest alone. Then the field mice and the wood rats have a feast, to which sometimes the road runner comes herself, for she is very fond of eggs as long as they are not her own.

But the cowbird never makes any such poor job as that. She always selects the nest of some smaller bird—in regions where warblers are plentiful the home of one of these little singers is most frequently chosen—and there as many eggs as she thinks the owner of the nest will submit to are laid. Sometimes the warbler goes right on incubating the intruder, but now and then the two old birds get together and dump the egg out on the ground. Nests have been found in which the warblers put a mud floor over the first nest and built another one on top of it, leaving their own eggs to spoil because they knew no other way to rid themselves of the cowbird. If the cowbird comes back by the repaired nest she will put another egg in it, and generally this egg is hatched and raised by the foster pair on whom it has been forced.

It requires about ten or eleven days for the young cowbird to break the shell, while most other birds of its size are two or three days longer, and thus he has a good start on the other nestlings in point of growth. When hatched the cowbird is larger than the sparrow or the warbler and consequently gradually crowds them into the background, taking all the food that should belong to them. As they grow weaker from this he grows stronger, and it is not long until he tips them out of the nest and is sole master of the two old birds, who work ceaselessly to satisfy his awful appetite. In a very few days he gets too large for the little nest and goes out into the branches, where the old birds still continue to feed him in a way they never do their own young after they have left the nest. In Mexico and South America there is a cowbird that sometimes builds a nest of her own and sits upon and hatches her own eggs, but no such thing ever happens among the black hoboes of the oriole family found farther north.

How many eggs a cowbird lays no one knows, but as many as seven have been found in one nest of the oven bird, a kind of thrush found in the eastern states. Usually, however, only one egg is laid in each nest, especially if the birds to whom the nest belongs are small and the nest too little to hold more than one of the cowbird's young in comfort. The parent cowbird never disturbs the eggs of any of the birds in whose nests she leaves her own, knowing full well that if she did so the nest builder would in all probability desert her home or throw the strange egg out. Oftentimes more than one cowbird lays in the same nest, and, as no two eggs of these birds are ever exactly alike in color, you may be sure that no cowbird knows her own egg half a minute after she has laid it.—Los Angeles Times.

Liked Wooden Ships.

Admiral Farragut was a "very old fashioned sailor, with a strong prejudice in favor of wooden ships," says Captain F. S. Hill in his "Twenty Years at Sea." The admiral had gained his victories in such ships and declared himself "too old a dog to learn new tricks." In the Mobile fights his flagship was the wooden ship Hartford, though he was urged to take the new ironclad Tecumseh. It was a noteworthy coincidence that the Tecumseh was the only vessel lost in the battle. She was sunk by a torpedo and went down with her captain and more than a hundred of her crew.

TELEPHONES FOR FARMERS.

A Co-Operative Scheme Which Makes Telephone Service Possible for the Farmer at Nominal Cost- Clubs Now Forming.

Nothing in recent years has come to our attention that we believe can exceed in interest the present proposition of the Bell Telephone Company for furnishing telephones to farmers. We have looked carefully into the plan and for the information of our readers present herewith the salient features.

The development of the telephone in the last decade has been truly wonderful, and the present time finds without exception, each community of any importance whatever, connected by telephone wires with the great Bell system.

Like all the great innovations of science which have been susceptible of application to commerce and social usage, the development of the telephone has naturally been along the lines of the greatest demand, and as was to be expected, its promoters gave their first attention to the thickly settled territories where its progress was assured at the most rapid rate.

Now-a-days this development has covered almost every city, borough, village and hamlet in the country and to-day the great problem which the telephone people are striving to solve, is how to connect the farmer with their telephone system at so little cost and in such a manner as will make it not only a luxury in convenience, comfort and usefulness, but will indeed render it an absolute necessity for him; for from the very nature of his isolated life, the farmer has more need of the telephone than almost any other class of persons.

Heretofore the makers of different styles of telephones have advertised them for sale to farmers, but after buying his set of telephones the farmer was absolutely limited in his use of them and they were depended for usefulness to him, only in exact proportion as he had neighbors equipped in a similar way. He and they bought their telephones and built their lines and could talk together and no more.

It is the distinct step in advance of the old arrangement that makes the proposition of the Bell Company of such vital interest to the farmer.

The Bell Company's plan is as follows:

THE BELL PLAN.

The Bell Company will build a line to a given junction point, probably such point being at the outskirts of the borough limits of the towns where their exchanges are located, and will assign certain wires from their switchboards to this junction point for the exclusive purpose of there connecting up with the farmers' line.

The farmers are to organize in convenient groups or clubs, and are to jointly build their own telephone line as far as this junction point, where the Bell people will attach to it and so connect the group or club of farmers' telephones with their system.

The Bell Company will at very low prices, either sell or rent the necessary apparatus required for installing the instruments and will rent their telephones and transmitters—the actual speaking parts—at very nominal rates, offering a choice of several arrangements for service with their Exchange and their Exchange subscribers These arrangements are planned to cover all the different conditions to be found, and each club or group of farmers would be priviliged to collect the one best suited to their own particular needs. One arrangement contemplates unlimited service between the telephones on the farmers' line and the telephones in the Bell Company's Exchange, and another arrangement contemplates unlimited conversations between the telephones on the farmers' line and a small switching charge for each connection with a subscriber in the company's Exchange. The prices which the Bell Company will establish are to be very cheap and will be graded to cover the different plans of service.

By allowing the farmers to build their own lines, the Bell Company has taken a step which will assure to the farmers telephone service at the lowest possible cost. The farmer by erecting his own line is freed from any necessity to pay returns upon an investment of a telephone company. His line is his own, he builds it himself or jointly with the help of his friends and neighbors, and almost invaribly a group of farmers clubbing together for the purpose, can furnish from their own places an expenditure of any kind, practically all the materials including the labor, necessary for the construction of the line, with the possible exception of the wire. One man contributes from his wood lot, trees to make the poles; another supplies oak or other hard wood for the cross-arms; even the pins on which the insulators are placed are made from wood cut on the farms. Men who do not contribute material send their teams to do the hauling, and others set the poles and string the wires. The pole line is in place before it is necessary to spend a dollar. Only the instruments and the wire remain to be procured.

The Bell Company has prepared a carefully gotten up pamphlet for guidance in building rural lines. Any set of farmers can successfully build a country line by following its suggestions, and the expert assistance and advice of the Bell people can always be had for the asking.

WHAT TELEPHONE SERVICE MEANS TO THE FARMER.

The farmer is enabled by this connection to be of easy access to every other Bell telephone user in the United States and he will also be able to get market reports and prices for his products before his produce is loaded upon his wagons.

In case of fire the farmer can quickly arouse his neighbor by telephone and secure assistance to put it out.

In case of sudden illness he can immediately communicate with the doctor and learn just what should be done temporarily to alleviate the pain, or possibly even prolong life until he can reach the sick room.

If prices rise or if the farmer is expecting them to rise or fall, he can call the nearest market town and buy and sell according as it is to his advantage to do so.

When tramps come to the door while the men are out in the field and the women are alone, the sound of the telephone bell will protect them from harm.

The cows may get into the corn or pigs in the clover, or a horse may get in trouble with only the women at home; the telephone will usually bring a willing neighbor.

While the farmer is in town he might unexpectedly be detained. How convenient to call up his house and tell the anxious wife the cause of his delay; also to ask how things are at home.

What a comfort and saving of time to be able to go to the telephone and call up your friend, ask the questions, deliver the message or place the order, instead of stopping work for the best part of the afternoon, hitching up a horse that ought to be resting, and driving miles over muddy, frozen or snow-bound roads.

The telephone pays for itself by just such economies of time, energy, horse flesh, wear and tear on harness and wagons, besides the neighborly feeling and protection it gives the household.

Surely the free delivery of the mail and this liberal solution of the question of telephone service for farmers by the Bell Telephone Company, mark a new era in the history of our times. We predict that nothing has been originated in recent years that will appeal more directly to the farmers or be more greatly appreciated by them, than the placing of these two great modern conveniences—the mail and the Bell Telephone at their thresholds.

A Practical, Helpful Farm Paper.

To the Editor of The Tribune Farmer.

Sir: Again I greatly appreciate the fact that I can come to you for advice. I would wish that all the farmers fully estimated the value of the New-York Tribune Farmer. It appears to me a choice periodical of its kind, rich in all its departments, but especially so in all that pertains to veterinary science. I have been a subscriber and reader of quite a long list of agricultural papers, but to me the New-York Tribune Farmer brings more real, practical, helpful assistance than any I have ever read. There may be others as good, or better, papers for the farmer, but I have failed to discover them asiyet. Yours very truly,

CHARLES S. BODMAN.

Through a special agreement with THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE FARMER we will send it with the Republican both papers, one year, for $1.00. Send your name and address to the Republican, Bellefonte, Pa.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

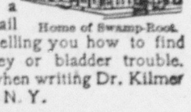
Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.



Home of Swamp-Root.

GRAND DUKE SERGIUS KILLED!

Bomb Thrown by Students Under Carriage

OF THE UNCLE OF CZAR

DUKE'S HEAD SEVERED FROM BODY

Moscow, Feb. 18.—While Grand Duke Sergius was driving from the Nicholas Palace through the Senate quarter his carriage was followed by two cabs. At a law court, a sleigh in which were two men, one of whom was dressed as a workmen went quickly ahead of the Grand Duke's carriage. The sleigh then slowed up to allow the carriage to pass and at that moment bomb was thrown under the carriage. The force of the explosion broke all the windows of the law courts and the report was heard outside the city. The carriage was blown to pieces, nothing but the four wheels remaining. The horses were not hurt and bolted.

THE DUKE'S HEAD BLOWN OFF.

The Grand Duke was instantly killed. His head was blown off, actually being severed from his body, which was frightfully mangled. The coachman was also killed. He was so frightfully burned by the explosive with which the bomb was loaded that he was taken to a hospital, where he died a few minutes later.

MEMENTOES OF THE TRAGEDY.

Within a few minutes after the explosion people might have been seen gathering up pieces of wood and clothing as mementoes of the tragedy. When the Grand Duchess Elizabeth, widow of the Grand Duke Sergius, was informed of the occurrence, she immediately went to the scene of the assassination, not waiting to put on a hat or cloak. The gates of the Kremlin were closed as the news of the assassination was conveyed to the authorities and the remains of the Grand Duke were taken to the Nicholas Palace.

ONE ASSASSIN UNDER ARREST.

One of the assassins was arrested by a policeman, who overtook him as he was running from the scene of the assassination. The man carried a revolvor but made no attempt to use it. He expressed gratification that the Grand Duchess Elizabeth was not accompanying her husband, Grand Duke Sergius, when the latter was killed. The assassin refused to reveal his identity, but admitted that he was a member of the Socialistic Revolutionary party.

No More Stomach Trouble.

All stomach trouble is removed by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It gives the stomach perfect rest by digesting what you eat without the stomach's aid. The food builds up the body, the rest restores the stomach to health. You don't have to diet yourself when taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. J. D. Erskine, of Allenville, Mich., says "I suffered Heartburn and Stomach trouble for some time. My sister-in-law has had the same trouble and was not able to eat for six weeks. She lived entirely on warm water. After taking two bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she was entirely cured. She now eats heartily and is in good health. I am glad to say Kodol gave me instant relief." Sold by Green's pharmacy.

Wedded at Washington.

Al. H. Duncan, of Philipsburg, was married Wednesday at noon in Washington, D. C., to Miss Franc Thompson, of Stormstown, this county. The wedding took place at the home of Mr. Duncan's parents, the bride being in Washington at the time, where she has for several years been holding a position in the Congressional library. The bride and groom will come to Stormstown and remain over the Sabbath at the bride's home, returning to Philipsburg, where they will go to housekeeping on South Second street. The groom is one of Philipsburg's best known young men, an accountant at the First National bank, and has secured as his bride a most excellent young lady, who is well known to many of our people, being a sister of Hon. J. K. and A. C. Thompson. We join in hearty congratulation.

A Night Alarm

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell and it means death unless something is done unless Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the worst forms of croup. Mrs. P. L. Cordier, of Mannington, Ky., writes: "My three year old girl had a severe case of croup; the doctor said she could not live. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life." Refuse substitutes. Sold by C. M. Parrish.

The academy improvement fund has been increasing slowly but surely day by day. There can be no question now as to the ultimate success of the movement. Best of all it is more and more proving a popular movement and that is the purpose of the originator. This is strongly attested by the fact that the Logan and Undine fire companies at their last meetings thoroughly discussed the academy as a business benefit to the community and became so interested in the matter that they appointed committees to solicit subscriptions from each member of the company and report at the next meeting. The result of their efforts will soon be made public. Surely this is a most creditable action on the part of our fire laddies who always come to the rescue at the right time. It ought to invite every other citizen of the community who has as yet not contributed to announce at once what he will do. Don't wait to be asked. There is no general committee soliciting subscriptions. It is a voluntary matter. A generous contribution is promised by an old Bellefonte resident, provided the movement receives the proper encouragement at home. How much do we want to raise? Why bless you, we can spend every cent of $3000 very fittingly; if we get that much subscribed.

Go to a telephone, call up one of the newspapers and tell them to put your name down in the popular subscription column with the amount you desire to contribute.

A New Cure for Cramps.

A young married couple stopped recently at one of the best hotels in St. Louis. About 2 a. m. the husband was seized with severe stomach cramps and was almost frantic. His wife was much frightened, but knew something must be done quickly. So without waiting to put on clothes, she started down stairs on the jump with naught on but her "pighty." Running into the dinning room she saw a mustard cruet on the table, emptying the contents into a handkerchief she started up stairs on the run, and entered the first door she came to. Here she saw a man lying on the bed, in the dim duskiness, she mistook for her husband and, gently tucking up his lingerie, slapped the poultice on his abdomen. The man let out a howl, and sitting up quickly, shouted in angry tones; "woman, what are you doing," there was a shriek, a patter of unshod feet on the floor, and, frightened half to death, the poor wife found her room and suffering husband. She told him her troubles, and it tickled him so that his cramps were forgotten.

Change of Mail Carriers.

There will be a change in the mail carriers on the several mail routes in this part of the county on July 1st, 1905, says the Millheim Journal. The contracts are for four years and as this winter was the usual time for letting the routes there was considerable bidding for the same.

A. W. Yearick, who has been carrying the mail from Woodward to Coburn, will be succeeded by C. W. Hosterman, of Woodward.

Charles Smull, who has for years been the driver of the mail wagon from Rebersburg to Coburn, will retire and M. C. Haines, of Rebersburg, will take his place.

C. M. Sheats, of Madisonburg, will deliver the mail from that place to Millheim, taking the position now occupied by John F. Miller.

No More Suffering.

If you are troubled with indigestion get a bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and see how quickly it will cure you. Geo. A. Thompson of Spencer, Ia., says: Have had Dyspepsia for twenty years. My case was almost hopeless. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure was recommended and I used a few bottles of it and it is the only thing that has relieved me. Would not be without it. Have doctored with local physicians and also at Chicago, and even went to Norway with the hopes of getting some relief, but Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the only remedy that has done me any good, and I can heartily recommend it. Every person suffering with indigestion or Dyspepsia should use it. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

A New Pastor in Charge.

Rev. H. I. Dudley, of Philadelphia, filled the pulpit of the Disciple church at Beech Creek last Sabbath morning and although the day was stormy, yet the attendance was very good. He preached at Howard in the evening and in the church at Blanchard again last Monday evening to a very large congregation. It is stated that an arrangement has been made with Mr Dudley, as the pastor of the churches at Blanchard, Howard and Marsh Creek, and that he will take charge on April 1. Mr. Dudley is a comparatively young married man and comes very highly recommended.

Consumption

¶ There is no specific for consumption. Fresh air, exercise, nourishing food and Scott's Emulsion will come pretty near curing it, if there is anything to build on. Millions of people throughout the world are living and in good health on one lung.

¶ From time immemorial the doctors prescribed cod liver oil for consumption. Of course the patient could not take it in its old form, hence it did very little good. They can take and tolerate it for a long time. There is no oil, not excepting butter, so easily digested and absorbed by the system as cod liver oil in the form of Scott's Emulsion, and that is the reason it is so helpful in consumption where its use must be continuous.

¶ We will send you a sample free.

Weaver, who lives along the pike east of Old Fort, reports some heavy weight hogs killed by him Tuesday Mr. Weaver sold the butchers a hog that dressed five hundred and eighteen pounds and some few months ago he killed a porker that dressed six hundred and sixteen pounds. —A clergyman, of Hiawatha, Kansas, preached a sermon on "Giving" recently. —W. H. Close of Oak Hall is in possession of a relic of the Civil War which he would not easily be persuaded to part with. Mr. Close was a member of Company H. 148 Regt. P. V. I., at the battle of Spotsylvania Court House, May 12, 1864 he was struck on the left cheek with a minnie ball which passed through his mouth and lodged in his neck where it was extracted the evening of the day he was wounded. Although badly wounded and somewhat disfigured by his wound yet he remained in the service of his country until the close of the war. Mr. Close keeps the bullet taken from his neck as one of his many souvenirs of the army experiences.

—A Gothenburg newspaper recently printed an article which indicates the advance in modern agricultural machinery in Sweden. The paper reported that the Helsingborgs Sockerfabriks-Aktiebolag (Sugar Manufacturing Company of Helsingborg) had purchased from England a steam plow, with two locomobiles, at a price of 50,000 crowns ($13,400). The plow has been used at Vestraby this fall with favorable results, only three persons being required for its operation, while about fifteen acres can be plowed per day It is remarked, moreover, that the use of steam plows has been tried only on a couple of other places in the province (Skane). Thus there ought to be a market for American steam plows on the large estates in the province.

—In late years men have made fortunes out of the tailings of gold mines. The mills in which the ore formerly was crushed and the crude processes then in use allowed a large percentage of the precious metal to escape, and that loss amounted in some cases to a fortune. The stomach is just like a stamp mill in this respect, that when it is not in perfect order it allows the escape and waste of much of the precious nutriment contained in the food. The loss when continuous means the loss of man's greatest fortune,—health. Science offers a remedy for this condition in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It corrects the "weakness" of the stomach, prevents waste and loss of nourishment, and puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition into a condition of health which enables them to save and assimilate all the nutriment contained in the food which is eaten. In all cases of constipation the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will speedily and permanently cure the disease.

Must Take Dutch Drinks if Bill Becomes a Law.

The custom of treating to drinks will become a matter of history if a sufficient number of the members of the Legislature of Pennsylvania can be induced to vote for a bill which has been presented in the house of representatives by Mr. Hitchcock, of Tioga county, by request. This bill would make it a misdemeanor for a person to buy or give to a thirsty companion a drink of any kind of intoxicating beverage whatever, and for the privilege of buying a drink for a friend the purchaser will have to pay a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50 for the first offense and for a repetition of the act he will be fined not less than $20 or more than $150 and serve from 10 to 90 days in jail.

Among the provisions of the act are: "From and after the passage of this act, it shall be unlawful for any person or persons in or about the premise of any licensed hotel, inn or restaurant or other places kept for the sale of vinous, spirituous, malt or brewed liquors, or cider, to buy for any persons to be used as a beverage, or gratuitously to furnish or supply to any other person or persons, or to participate in the gratuitous furnishing or supplying to another person or persons to be used as a beverage, by selling for that purpose, or in any other manner, any vinous, spirituous, malt or brewed liquors or cider."

Further, "that it shall be the duty of the constable of the several townships, boroughs and wards of this commonwealth to make returns of violations of this act to the regular terms of quarter sessions court."

The bill also provides that any justice of the peace, alderman or magistrate, being informed by affidavit of one or more persons of the commission of the offense of "setting 'em up," shall issue a warrant for the arrest of the person charged with the violation of the act, and any constable or police officer may serve the warrant and bring the offenders before the magistrate, who is authorized to sit in judgment upon the guilt or innocence of the prisoner.

When the fine exceeds $10, or an imprisonment is imposed the defendants may appeal from the decision of the magistrate and give bail for court where the case shall be prosecuted as in other cases of misdemeanor.

The Choral Society's Concert.

The concert given last Thursday evening by the Bellefonte Choral Society aided by several good soloists' proved to be one of the best musical entertainments that a Bellefonte audience has heard for some years.

Under the pains-taking direction of Miss Mary Bradley, the society manifested a degree of excellence that proved to be a pleasant surprise to the audience. The two numbers given as part songs by the ladies octette were exceptionally fine, and as one of the auditors said—"alone worth the price of admission."

Bellefonte may well be proud of such an organization and should show its interest by a more generous patronage when such musical privileges are offered.
